

Cyrus Hypnotist Show Bio 2017:

Hypnotist Cyrus has always been unique right from the start and is loved for his big heart, quick wit, great sense of humor, family values and charismatic personality. Cyrus is living his dream and his act is only getting bigger and better. Born with the natural gift to entertain, Cyrus is now offering the world what he was always meant to give them— “EVERYTHING I GOT.”

Jason Cyrus was born and raised in the small coal mining village of Minto, NB, Canada. From a young age, Cyrus’ father, the late country music icon Joey Knight (who passed away in May 2011), always took him to see the magicians and hypnotists as they came into town. As Cyrus watched the entertainers on stage, a fire ignited inside him as he realized that he could light up the stage in the same way.

Cyrus fostered his love for magic and hypnosis at a very young age. He began entertaining everyone at parties with his magic tricks. As he grew he ended up playing triple A hockey in Ontario; where a young Cyrus attended a private party where a hypnotist provided the entertainment and immediately knew that this was something he had to do. During his final year with the team he enrolled in grade 13 and spent most of his spare time learning about hypnosis at the school library.

Cyrus returned home to NB to finish up his hockey career and began studying hypnosis on the side. He kept it a secret from everyone because he didn’t want people to think he was crazy. After all, he recognized that a stage hypnotist was not a traditional career choice. While holding down various unfulfilling but traditional jobs and running his own fitness business Cyrus decided to follow his heart and accomplish his dream of becoming a certified hypnotist through the International Hypnosis Association. His hours of required studying paid off and he became a member of the largest hypnosis groups in the world The National Guild of Hypnotists.

Cyrus now works as a full time entertainer touring many of the major theatres in Canada and has quickly become one of the hottest tickets on the market. Now called “Canada’s Stage Hypnosis KING” by the country’s entertainment capital, Niagara Falls, audiences are continuously blown away by his stellar performance and more and more people from near and far are packing theatres to see him year after year. His theatre work has opened the door for Cyrus to develop a great corporate show as the headline entertainment for major corporate and community fundraising events.

While Cyrus enjoys performing in front of large audiences, he also finds working with individual clients very rewarding. In addition to his stage shows and corporate work Cyrus also operates a clinical hypnotherapy office, which enables him to offer support to clients in a one-on-one environment where he is able to help his clients reach their true potential while enhancing and improving their lives.

Cyrus’ keynote presentation combines entertainment with a powerful and inspirational message. In his aptly entitled presentation he shows you how to Achieve the Unthinkable and how you can put the scientific principles to work in your business and personal life.

In his down time (which is very limited these days), he still enjoys playing hockey and softball but his real dedication belongs to his family which includes his true love, soul mate and guardian angel Catherine and his beautiful daughter Chloe as well as his mother Carolyn, father Joey, sister Stacey, and his Nan (Vivian) who have always been a very important part of his life.
